

Dr. Raka Saxena is presently working as a Principal Scientist at ICAR-National Institute for Agricultural Economics and Policy Research and has a Ph D in agricultural economics from G B Pant University of Agriculture and Technology, Pantnagar. Before joining ICAR-National Institute for Agricultural Economics and Policy Research, she served the premier ICAR-National Dairy Research Institute, Karnal and G B Pant University as a faculty member. She is presently working on the project on Doubling of Farmers' Income in the country. She has many research publications including journal articles, books, policy papers, working papers etc to her credit. She has worked as consultant to many organizations like Ministry of Commerce, ICRIER, OECD, France etc. She has been associated with leading professional associations as member and office bearer, and received awards for research contributions.