

Vijayaraghavan, the chairman of Sathguru Management Consultants Private Limited, is a technology management professional with specialisation in life sciences arena. A Registered Technology transfer practitioner (RTTP) with 35 years of experience in innovation advancement, intellectual property management and Corporate growth advisory practice. Academically he is affiliated to Cornell University as the Regional Lead for International Programs in Life Sciences. Vijay leads the Executive Education for Agri Business Professionals in Cornell with programs tailored to emerging market leaders from the life sciences sector.

He combines his science, strategic management and finance exposure to engage with public and private innovation enterprises to advance innovations to global markets. He has advised several national and international governments from both advanced and emerging economies to shape their science and technology commercialization policies; technology development and dissemination strategies; enterprise nurturing initiatives and intellectual assets protection policies. He is a Co-author of the OECD publication on the “Biotechnology Innovations for Inclusive Growth”. Internationally his engagement is impactful in over a dozen countries which are emerging as innovation hubs of the future.