Course description: This course discusses the diverse aspects of Development Organizations. This is based on the interdisciplinary framework to deconstruct the management and administration of development institutions. It revolves around the questions on how the various Organizations play in the notions of Development alongside the global associational revolution in which ‘third sector organizations’ have come to play increased roles in public policies. A variety of development organizations are an essential constituent of ‘third sector’. These include community-based organizations and civil society actors, international non-governmental organizations, state and other national-based actors, global forms of governance, international financial institutions, and transnational corporations. The contemporary role of each of these actors, explains the complex theoretical debates over their existence and activities, and their relevance in a variety of contexts, while at the same time critically assessing their effectiveness.
Course objectives <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • To provide insight into the conceptual complexities of development organizations. • To understand NGOs role in development practice • To explain relation between NGO and aid system • To understand the various aspects related to the management of NGOs.
