Course description: This course builds on the understanding of international law gained by students at the undergraduate level and is intended as an advanced course. It looks at the process of globalization and its impact on law in the light of history. This course will discuss the debates surrounding globalization, justice, its changing meaning and the impact that it has on many fields of law. It will provide an understanding of how law and legal institutions has to change in order to align with the global rules. The shrinking policy space at the national level will also be discussed. The discussions end with the demand for change in international law and global institutions heard from different quarters.
Course objectives: 1. To understand the process of globalization and its impact on law and justice in a historical perspective. 2. To critically analyse the concept of global justice and the mechanisms designed to achieve it. 3. To better appreciate the demands for change raised by different groups to the international legal order and institutions in the light of globalization.
